FOREIGN AFFAIRS TAKE UP TIME OF PRESIDENT-ELECT

ROOSEVELT AND HIS ADVISERS IN CONFERENCE

French Ambassador Is Also Received Dur- ing Day

By Francis M. Stephenson.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
New York, Feb. 21.—(AP)—President-elect Roosevelt took over the foreign affairs of the United States today and got a running start on a world conference through which he hopes to bring about restoration of prosperity for all people.

In quick succession at his residence on East Sixty-fifth street, the next president of the United States conferred with his economic advisers and received Mr. Paul Claudet, the French ambassador, and William D. Herridge, the Canadian minister.

The significant discussions focused on the world economic conference which now appears to be imminent and the subjects of monetary stabilization, tariff reciprocity and war debts.

Conceal Details.
Mr. Roosevelt and his diplomatic advisers carefully concealed the specific details taken up, but it was believed the meeting asked for by Mr. Claudet brought an overtone from France on her debt payment which was defaulted on December 15.

The president-elect said the conversations would be resumed shortly and he would ask his new secretary of state—undoubtedly Senator Hull, of Tennessee—to continue them forthwith.

All signs now point to a world economic parley before Roosevelt talks over debt relief with the European nations. He wants to have definite assurance of progress toward world recovery before conceding aid on the debts.

Obviously, though, the French overture today on war debts, opened the way for a general world economic parley including all nations—a move that was started at yesterday's meeting between Roosevelt and Ambassador Linday of Great Britain.

Even before seeing Ambassador Claudet today, the president-elect summoned to his conference table a distinguished group of economic and political leaders headed by Bernard M. Baruch and Professor Raymond Moley.

Baruch is regarded as the probable chairman of the American delegation to the economic conference. Professor Moley, expert on war debts, sat in at the Roosevelt parley with Mr. Claudet.

Roosevelt himself emphasized that "everything is in the preliminary stage," but that "everything is getting on very well." It was stated authoritatively that the Far Eastern crisis was not mentioned at all.

After a busy day on international affairs, the president-elect called off his departure for Hyde Park until tomorrow morning and went into a conference with James A. Farley, national chairman, and Louis M. Howe, political secretary, on the big question of filling hundred of key government positions on March 4.

The cabinet selections marked time temporarily.

SLASHING OF SALARIES IS ORDER OF DAY

Illinois Lower House Cuts Pay Of Many Officials

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Salary slashing was the order of the day with the lower house of the general assembly.

Proponents of salary cuts, who brought their measures up today for advancement to third reading, were swamped with a series of amendments making even greater cuts than those at first proposed.

Both sides of the house joined in the movement with enthusiasm and before the house was ready to hear the address of Governor Martin S. Conner of Mississippi on the operation of the sales tax the bills had been amended and advanced to third reading.

The bills are now ready for final consideration and house leaders plan to bring them up for passage next week.

The house committee on efficiency and economy, headed by representative James D. Dumas, of Danvers, had recommended a $500 yearly cut for the lieutenant governor. The house, however, amended his bill, slashing the salary to $2,500, or half of what the position now pays.

Burns committee had recommended cuts of $1,000 each for the state auditor, state treasurer, secretary of state, attorney general, and the superintendent of public instruction. This, however, was not sufficient for the house and his bill was amended so as to lower the salary of these officials to $7,500 a year, a cut of $2,500.

None of these particular reductions, however, can go into effect for four years, as the salary of a state official can not be cut while he is in office.

Burns committee had recommended a reduction in the salary of supreme court judges, who now get $15,000 a year, of $3,000. Amendments, however, cut this down to $10,000 annually. These reductions, if passed by the house on third reading and then approved by the senate and the governor, will effect the seven justices of the supreme court to be elected at the June election.

The committee had recommended a reduction in the salary of circuit and superior court judges of $15,000 annually, but amendments whittled it down to $6,000, a reduction of $2,000. This reduction, if carried through to enactment, will also be operative on the salaries of judges all over the state who are named in June.

Representative Leroy Green (R), Rockford, started the barrage of amendments when he introduced one to cut the lieutenant governor's salary to $2,500. Most of the other amendments were also introduced by Green.

The house today advanced the prohibition repeal bills, recently adopted in the senate, to second reading. Representative A. B. Lager, (D), Carlyle, said he planned to have them advanced to third reading tomorrow and then call them up for final passage next week.

The house and senate met in joint session at 3:30 o'clock and listened to Governor Conner tell of the operation of the sales tax in Mississippi. Speaker Roe announced the sales tax bill passed by the senate, would be brought up in the house tomorrow for first reading.

"Bailed Out"
The committee also heard from its counsel, Ferdinand Pecora, the story of an involved transaction by which he suggested the bank had "bailed out" a loss of $2,000,000 during the three years of the market "boom" in 1927, 1928 and 1929, from the bank and its security affiliate, the National City Company.

Mitchell's story of how he avoided paying an income tax in 1929 was developed by president questioning from Pecora after the banker had spent almost an entire day on the stand.

He described how he bought thousands of shares in National City bank stock "in the midst of the panic" in 1929 to support the market.

Altogether, he said, he bought 23,300 shares and shortly afterwards sold 10,000 of this. The remaining 13,300 shares, he testified, he sold "for tax purposes."

"How much of a loss did that enable you to show asked Pecora?" Mitchell replied it was between $2,700,000 and $2,800,000.

"That enabled you to avoid an income tax for 1929, did it not?" asked the counsel.

"Yes, the losses had been such that I didn't have it," replied the banker.

"That sale in the later part of 1929 was made to a member of your family, was it not?"

"It was," Mitchell assented.

"It was just simply a sale of convenience to elude the tax, wasn't it?" asked Senator Brookhart (R., Iowa).

"You can call it that," was the reply.

Mitchell explained he later bought back the stock of 18,000 shares because he "simply couldn't let the purchaser take the loss."

"I individually have suffered a greater loss from the market fall of City Bank stock than any other individual in the United States," Mitchell told the senators, "being the holder today the largest amount of its stock he has ever held."

Although Mitchell was on the stand from morning to night, his testimony about compensation he received, excited more discussion than anything else, and members of the investigating committee were frankly critical of it, suggesting the system followed would encourage selling bad investments to the public.

Explaining the system, Mitchell said both the bank and the company had "managed funds" representing 20 percent of the profits after 8 percent had been deducted for capital, surplus and undivided profits.

MAYOR CERMAK IS REPORTED NOT SO WELL

Intestinal Disturbance Causes Temperature To Increase

Miami, Fla., Feb. 21.—(AP)—The condition of Mayor Cermak of Chicago, shot by Giuseppe Zangara in the attempt to assassinate President-elect Frank D. Roosevelt, apparently became a matter of concern to his physicians tonight.

The physicians visited the mayor's room three times within 45 minutes. They reported him resting badly because of colitis. His temperature was 101 degrees and the pulse rate had increased to 108, with respiration at 30.

The official bulletin issued at 11:10 p. m. attributed the increase temperature to the intestinal disturbance.

SENATOR CORDELL HULL AND WILLIAM W. WOODIN APPOINTED TO CABINET

GENERAL ANSELL IS ASSAILED BY SEN. HUEY LONG

"Kingfish" Calls Him "Scoundrel And Thief"

Washington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Huey Long took up in the Senate today where he left off in New Orleans last week and with all the vitriol for which he is famous, scathing denounced Brigadier General Samuel T. Ansell, retired, counsel for a Senate committee that has been investigating Louisiana's 1932 Senatorial primary.

He accused Ansell of forging an appointment as acting chief of staff of the army in 1917 and called him a "scoundrel and thief of the lowest level of crookdom."

Senator Howell, (R., Neb.) chairman of the committee and with whom Long clashed repeatedly in his hearings in New Orleans and in the debate today, defended Ansell.

Long assailed Ansell for a public statement he issued here Sunday on his return home from two weeks of hearings in New Orleans, while Howell said that he regretted Ansell had made it.

The committee's inquiry has been into the campaign in which Senator Edwin S. Broussard was defeated for renomination—tantamount to election—by representative John H. Overton, whom Long backed throughout the race.

Ansell's statement said the investigation needed to be continued and sharply criticized Long and Overton in terms Senator Clark (D., Mo.) described on the floor as "scurrilous and libelous."

The attorney, reached by telephone at his office here, said he wanted to wait until he had read the congressional record text of Long's speech before commenting, but added that he might issue a statement some time tonight.

George Washington

The man who was hailed last year by numerous singers, amateur and professional, as the "father of the land we love," is 201 years old today, or he would be if he were alive.
The bi-centennial celebration of the birth of George Washington ended sometime ago, having run itself out some time during the year 1932.

But the memory of Washington remains fresh and vibrant as ever, not so potent as that of Lincoln, but perhaps as much so as the memory of Lincoln will be in the year 2010. The two great men lived so many years apart, and so much of history was made in the interim that it is impossible to get an equal thrill out of the celebration of their respective anniversaries.

The old story that George Washington never told a lie has been exploded. There are still those who believe he cut down the cherry tree and told the truth about it, but history records another instance in which he deliberately lied, but to save the life of one of his soldiers.

It happened in 1754 when Washington was compelled to surrender Fort Necessity to the French. He was allowed to leave with the honors of war, but the French General De Villiers demanded to know the name of the sentry in Washington's army, who had picked off three French soldiers.

"He was killed while on duty," Washington answered sternly, and meanwhile the very man who had been such a good shot stood right behind his chief. No doubt he thanked his lucky stars that Washington could lie when it was necessary.

The Mess in Jehol

The Jap war machine is moving into Jehol province, which appears to be one of the bits of Chinese territory which the Chinese would like to keep for themselves. Japan wants to perform an operation and cut this province from the Chinese anatomy and graft it onto Manchukuo, but thus far China has resisted the nauseating and has given the physician several vigorous punches in the jaw.

Meanwhile the League of Nations stands to one side and points its finger at Japan, saying "Naughty, naughty!" And like the gangster whom police recently slaughtered in a bathroom, Japan says to the League: "You know where you can go." When the cops heard that they turned on the machine gun, a suggestion which the League may or may not take seriously.

Anyway the war is on in Jehol. It was reported that the Chinese actually killed 70 Japanese soldiers, a rather remarkable day's work. Meanwhile Japan's wholesale murder machine has been making inroads on the huge Chinese army of defense, and several hundred Chinese soldiers have been checked in at the gates of Eternity.

What's it all about? No nation knows that better than Japan. What she will encounter before the war is ended, not even the Japanese know.
The disturbance in the Orient is fraught with grave problems for the entire world.

WILL ROGERS
says:
To the Editor of the Journal and Courier:
Beverly Hills, Calif., Feb. 21.—Remember my old rich "Uncle" who was telling you about the government wanting him to get a divorce because he lived in Hollywood. Well, they pulled one better than that the other day. They tried to prove that he wasn't in his right mind because one time when his car stalled and they couldn't get it started he traded it for a horse and rode off, and they call that crazy. If everybody did that, they would be out of debt in a couple of years. Just think no gas, no tires, no roads to pay for. Why instead of prosecuting the old Indian, they ought to erect a monument to him for being that far ahead of his time.

STATES AND U. S.
TRYING TO STOP
BLACK BASS SALE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 21.—Sportsmen, conservationists, state and federal governments are trying to stamp out commercial fishing of the black bass, one of the principal game fishes of this country, are attempting to get a uniform provision inserted into the laws of every state, prohibiting the commercial taking, transportation and sale of these game fish, according to a bulletin of the American Game association.

Fourteen states are to consider adopting such regulations as are necessary, during the sessions of their legislature this year. There are Arkansas,
Alabama, Florida, Missouri, North
Dakota, South Dakota, Rhode Island,
West Virginia, Indiana, Tennessee,
South Carolina, Utah, New Mexico
and Maryland.

The black bass, it has been conclusively proved, is worth approximately $5 a pound as a lure to anglers. The usual commercial market price is 10 or 15 cents a pound. The revenue paid by anglers pursuing the bass is distributed to a large number of interests ranging from railroad fare to a small boy to paddle a boat, and it amounts to millions of dollars annually. Some $350,000,000 is spent every year for sport fishing in this country; the black bass carries a major portion of this golden harvest on his bronze back. The market value of the bass is so small in comparison that it is insignificant; yet, through the lure and structure of the bass, state legislatures have a handful of commercial fishermen have managed in many states to defeat all attempts to stop commercial fishing of the bass, according to officials of the association.

A nationwide campaign, under the direction of the American Game association and the Izaak Walton League assisted by state organizations, is under way to get the remaining states that allow the sale of black bass, to stop the taking of their own bass for commercial purposes at all times; also to get the federal states which prohibit the sale of their own fish but allow the sale of their neighbor's black bass within their borders, to change their laws in order that the Hawes Federal Black Bass Law may become fully effective throughout the United States.
Its object is to stop transportation for commercial purposes across a state line, thus stopping the sale of interstate bass, officials said.

SIGN UP ROUTE
FOR HARD ROAD
NEAR MEREDOSIA

Dedications for the right-of-way on Route 100 from a point east of Mere-dosia to the Cass county line were taken to Springfield Tuesday by W. J.

been signed by property owners, and are now in the hands of state highway department officials.

Most of the one-fourth mile strip of road in this county is now signed up with exception of land owned by the Price estate. On account of minor heirs being involved in condemnation proceedings will be necessary.
This suit will come up in the Cass county court at Springfield, March 13.
The section of Route 100 in this county already is under contract to the Nelson Construction Company.
Work is expected to begin early this spring.

If rough old Marlene Dietrich wants to wear the pants, let her say Bert and Bob. "Anything good enough for my mother is good enough for me," declared Wheeler. The only comment Woolsey had to offer was: "Trousers are so effeminate."

More Juvenile Designs in the Journal-Courier Wonder Package

Here are 21 more juvenile patterns from the Journal-Courier Wonder Package, the package containing 12 sheets (each 24 by 36 inches) just crammed with over 800 different patterns.

The group shown above is only half of one of the large sheets and when you consider how many are on this and the wonderful possibilities just imagine the fun you and the children will have with it.

You will have fun painting and embroidering these designs and the children will thoroughly enjoy the articles which bear these decorations.

Just imagine the spouting whale riding along on an embroidered buttonhole wave, an attractive decoration for curtains or towels.

The locomotive, aeroplane and automobile would make an amusing group for lamp shade, especially for boy's room. The three groups of boats could be applied to a 25c parchment lamp shade and then etched in black and filled in with bright colors.

The designs are much larger than shown here, the sheet from which they were taken measures 18 by 24 inches.

That little house in the clouds would be most attractive for decorating the sister's lunch box and the little boy fishing or the dog and cat would be just the thing for brother's box.

You no doubt have many articles about the house which require a touch of decoration here and there to make them more attractive. The Wonder Package with its wealth of ideas will be of immense help to you.

The transferring of the designs is so simple that the children can be taught to apply them, no hot iron is required, just a little water and spoon. When considering that each design can be transferred 10 or 12 times, there can always be designs on hand for rainy days when the children find it difficult to play inside. An inexpensive box of crayons or water color paints, some heavy paper and the child will be kept busy all day and find it easy to create various uses for the many patterns.

Of course you know the price of the Wonder Package is $1.00 if you wish it mailed to you or only 86c if you wish to call for it. You may call at the office of the Journal-Courier for your package.

U. OF I. FACULTY MEMBER WILL BE COLLEGE SPEAKER

Dr. Frederick E. Lee of the University of Illinois will be the first speaker at the Friday morning session of the Institute on the Present Economic Crisis which is to be held at MacMurray College, Feb. 23 and 24. His subject will be "Essential International Adjustment in the Economic Crisis."

Dr. Lee received his Ph.D. degree from Yale University. He has also received a diploma from the Tokyo School of Foreign Languages and has spent two years studying at the London School of Economics. Before Dr. Lee accepted the position as dean of the college of arts and sciences at the University of Maryland, he was associated with the American legation in Peking as American economist consul. From 1925-27 he was executive dean of the University of Maryland. During the years 1927-29, Dr. Lee was with the American embassy of London as financial trade commissioner, and in 1929 he was in Paris as one of the observers with the Young commission. Since 1929, he has been professor of economics at the University of Illinois.

When Dr. Lee was dean of the University of Maryland, he lectured at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Johns Hopkins. He is a Fellow of the Royal Economic Society, London, a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences, American Economic Association, and the Asiatic Society of Japan.

Dr. Lee is the author of "The Russian Cooperative Movement," "Currency Banking and Finance in China," "Participating Shares in British Investment Trusts," "Banking and Trade Financing in the United Kingdom," and is a contributor to magazines and periodicals.

The public is cordially invited to attend all the sessions of the Institute. Reservations for the dinner Friday evening may be made at the college business office.

MAKE EMERGENCY APPEAL TO HELP SALVATION ARMY

The unprecedented conditions that are prevailing in this community have compelled the Salvation Army to make a special emergency appeal for help. Like the other agencies released from the Community Chest, they find themselves with a depleted treasury and an appalling number dependent upon them for the necessities of life.

Unable to turn needy folks away empty, the officers and soldiers of the Salvation Army have been doing heroic work. They can not carry on much longer unless the public is willing to share in this splendid task. The Salvation Army committee of citizens has planned for a special appeal for help to begin Monday, Feb. 27. The following citizens are in charge of this appeal: Claude Gustine, chairman; Mrs. Keith Montgomery, chairman of residential section of city; Frank Baker, chairman of industrial group. A number have volunteered their services for solicitation.

When one thinks of the Army last year investigating four thousand relief cases, distributing eight thousand loaves of bread, more than three thousand gallons of milk, forty-two tons of coal, more than twelve hundred dollars actual cash spent in relief, and distributed garments and goods valued at more than three thousand dollars, he can hardly refuse help for this year when the need is greater.

The above is just a small part of the local service which is made possible because of public help. Never in the forty-two years of the service the Salvation Army has given to Jacksonville as it needed your help more than today.

The TYNMITES

"It didn't take us long to pass right through that magnifying glass," said Scouty. "Now I wonder what is going to happen next."

"Things really seem the same right here as everywhere. There's nothing queer about the spot we've jumped to. Gee, I really am perplexed."

Their friend, the fiddler ant, then said, "Just wait until you walk ahead. You'll meet a funny cricket cop not very far from here."

"You do what he tells you to and he will be real nice to you. If you behave in Big Bug Land, there's not a thing to fear."

And then the fiddler added, "I am going to sail back through the sky. I'm due back where I came from, and the hopper's going, too."

"We'll meet again some other day. Enjoy yourselves and have your play. I'm sure that in old Big Bug Land you'll all find something new."

"Well, thank you for what you have done," said Windy. "We've had lots of fun." And then, off went the hopper, with the big ant on its back.

The Tynmites waved with all their might until their friends were out of sight. Then Scouty shouted, "Follow me, along this winding track."

They hadn't walked so very far till Coppy cried, "Oh, there you are!" He then waved to the cricket cop, who stood right near at hand.

GOOD STYLE
is never extreme. If you look around at the people who dress in good taste, you'll see that there's never anything "flashy" about what they wear.

Come to think of it...

it's very much the same with cigarettes.

No cigarette should ever be "strong." That means that they should never be too rich or over-seasoned—not harsh or "bitey."

The taste of a Chesterfield is just as near right as we know how to make it.

Not tasteless or flat, not too highly flavored for steady smoking, but with just the right kinds of tobaccos blended the one right way to satisfy.

Chesterfields are mild. They taste better.

Billy Roche Claims Corbett And Tunney Were Gentlemen Thruout Their Ring Careers

By Billy Roche
(As Told to Edward J. Neil)
New York, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The same kind of accident that shouldn't happen to a man in a ring, happened to Billy Roche, who said that Corbett and Tunney were gentlemen thruout their ring careers.

I've been around boxing almost 60 years, refereeing, managing fighters, and I've come to believe that there is no such thing as an accidental knockout. But there were two exceptions that will always make me a doubter. And both of them happened to Corbett.

Fitz never would tackle Corbett, again after Jim beat him so badly he lost on a solar plexus punch in 14 rounds at Carson City in 1904, but he fought Jeffries, once a rubber for Corbett, and lost the championship on an 11 round knockout at Coney Island in 1907. I saw that one, too.

Corbett was 34 by this time but he had kept in wonderful condition, never snored or drank, and he had lived a fine clean life on the stage. He wanted to be the first man ever to regain the championship once he'd lost it, something that still has never been done among heavyweights.

He got his chance, when Jeffries agreed to fight him at Coney Island May 11, 1900.

Jeffries was in his prime then, 25 years old, weighing 220 pounds, 6 feet 2 inches tall, a great grizzly bear of a man, awkward yet surprisingly agile, with great punching powers in his ponderous paws and unlimited stamina.

Yet for 22 rounds, and all but one punch of the 33rd, he was absolutely helpless against Corbett.

Jim dazzled him with left jabs and reaped around the ring avoiding his punches as easily as though they were in different rooms. Jeffries wasn't out much because Corbett moved so fast that there was no time to stop and put weight behind the punches. But Corbett danced and jabbed and hooked and piled up enough points to win a dozen fights today.

But I always thought, watching Corbett in all his fights, that no one realized how much endurance he had to have to box the style he used. In one round he would move around a ring more, and faster, than the ordinary heavyweight did in two. As a result he used up twice as much energy, tired himself twice as much. When they started the 23rd round, with every one of the first 22 Corbett's tremendous margins and only three more to go for the decision, I think Corbett for the first time overestimated his strength.

He was gone along beautifully, jabbing Jeffries ears off, when he tried one of his old tricks. He had a neat habit of retreating into a corner as you charged him, then reaching out, twisting you around, and belting you a dozen times before you could get out of the corner.

So when Jeffries charged in the 23rd, still trying and fresh as ever, Corbett went into a corner. He started out to his own right just as Jeffries, from his famous crouch, started a roundhouse left.

Either Corbett was careless again, or he kept his head back for enough, or his legs deceived him and didn't carry him fast enough from danger, because he stepped right splat into that punch, a left hook to the jaw. He toppled over on his face and there was no question about it. He was knocked out.

He tried once more against Jeffries, in San Francisco in 1903, but he was an old man then for a fighter. 37, and the bear man put him away in 10 rounds.

Right here I want to say that the ring and I've watched it, never saw but two real gentlemen, Corbett and Gene Tunney. I managed Tunney shortly after the war. He was a better fighter than Corbett, but he never could match "Pampadour" Jim's speed.

Jim's speed was his real asset, and in cleverness as Tunney was above the rest of the heavyweights he fought in his prime.

But the two go down together in ring history. Others could be gentlemen for 48 hours at a stretch by punishing themselves severely. These two were fine, upright gentlemen at all times. They didn't know how to be otherwise.

Winchester, Feb. 21.—(Special)—Trailing one point at the end of the first half during which the second string held the court, Winchester's varsity string took the court for the second half and after holding Roodhouse for the third quarter, quarter bounded into the lead in the final quarter to snatch a 24 to 23 decision in a thrilling conference game.

Danner led the barrage which turned the tide for the Wildcats in the final quarter, Winchester taking the lead for the first time with only a few minutes to play.

Roodhouse shut out the Winchester seconds in the opening quarter 4-0, but found the reserves hounding them at the close of the second quarter 12-11. Roodhouse was not worried by the insertion of the first string at the start of the second half and held a 16-14 lead at the end of the third period, but couldn't check Danner and Carlton in the final few minutes.

Greenfield, Feb. 21.—(Special)—White Hall descended on Greenfield tonight for a series of three basketball games, and when the firing and tumult had died away, White Hall went back home with three victories. White Hall's seconds took a hair-raising victory from Greenfield 11-0 and the White Hall grades copped the opening game 14-0.

The pairings for the high school tournament to be held here in a couple of weeks were received by coaches and principals of the schools entered and it is possibly a fact that most of the school heads were slightly surprised with the note which accompanied the pairings.

It was common knowledge that this year's tournament would be conducted under the seeding system, but it was supposed that in seeding the teams, the number of teams would be ranked against the number 5 or 6 team. Not so, however, because the board of directors of the I. H. S. A. decided to pair the teams more on a par as to actual strength.

The number one team this year will play the team rated third or fourth, and the number two team will play the team rated fourth or fifth. In other words, the spread between the teams for the first round matches will not be more than three points.

There will not be much clamor to select either the number one or two teams in the future. We surmise that Ashland was picked No. 1 and J. H. S. No. 2 this year, although we do not know. They were New Berlin, Modesto, No. 3 and I. S. D. No. 4, which is something we also do not know, but merely surmise.

Anyway, J. H. S. is worrying more about Murrayville this week than they are about the district tournament. Although that thought is in the backs of their minds. They want to beat Murrayville, and they are a little more afraid of the Raiders than they are of the Tigers. One reason for that probably is that you can't tell just when the Raiders are going to strike.

Routt has moved its game with Trinity here from Saturday night up to Thursday night. Coach Baptist is trying to crowd as many days of rest in between the first game of the season and the Catholic tournament as he can. He believes the Raiders have played a little too much basketball this season, and he's not working them very hard.

We also want to ask Mr. Isina for a sectional tournament, more teams in the district tournament, another district track and field meet, and, well, if he ever gets down this way we feel certain that we can think up a few more things to ask for.

We don't hear much about the swimming and water polo state meet. All of the records, with one exception, are held by Chicago or suburban tankers. Rockford holds the 200 yard relay title.

RECEIVE BRACKETS FOR CAGE TOURNEY

Ashland, New Berlin, Pleasant Plains and Bluffs in Upper Bracket—Seven Teams Listed in Lower Bracket.

Brackets for the district basketball tournament which will be held here beginning on March 7 or 8, were received yesterday, listing seven teams in lower bracket and four in the upper bracket. There will be four games in the tournament, which will begin on either Tuesday or Wednesday evening. All sessions will be held at night, as they were last year, and all games will be played in the David Prince gymnasium.

Principal J. C. Mutch, manager of the local district, has not completed the time schedule for the games as yet. There probably will be three games on the opening night, and from then on the make-up of the schedule is in doubt.

I. S. D. and J. H. S. probably will open the tournament, unless it is decided to hold this game for the final of the evening. Winchester, Waverly, Chaplin, Modesto are other games booked for the opening night. The brackets this year are not numbered, leaving it to the discretion of the management to list the games at times most convenient.

Ashland, New Berlin and Pleasant Plains-Bluffs games will be carried for the second evening, and it is probable that the third evening will see the winner of the J. H. S.-I. S. D. game return for a game with Franklin, and the winners of the other opening games return for the battle which will put the victor in the semi-finals. Semi-finals will be held on Friday night and finals on Saturday night.

Modesto was transferred to this district from White Hall in exchange for Peterson. Otherwise the list of teams remains the same this year as it was last year when Ashland swept thru to a district title. Ashland is one of the favorites to repeat this year, with J. H. S. and I. S. D. doing as the strongest contenders.

Associated Press Financial Writer

New York, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Trends

were mixed in the financial markets

today. Stocks closed slightly lower after a few attempts at a pre-holiday rally and commodities continued their fairly favorable record. But a number of preferred stocks yielded to government gold currencies advanced.

Rails offered the best front in the share market, bolstered by reports of larger loadings last week and Union

Pacific's 1932 earnings statement.

Tobacco equities rallied on estimates of better sales since the new cigarette price cut. Aviation stocks were furthered upward. Sales totaled 692,

150 shares.

The average net loss was traceable. American Telephone lost a net, despite a declaration of a regular dividend by the Illinois company. American Can was also off a point, while Air Reduction lagged 2 points. A number of preferred stocks yielded several points. National declines appeared for General Electric, Southern Pacific, Sears Roebuck, Du Pont,

Santa Fe, Canadian Pacific, Consolidated Gas and North American.

U. S. Steel and New York Central

were steady, while Lazard and Myn-er's were up 1 point.

Increased coal loadings were responsible for the recent upturn in freight traffic.

Union Pacific's earnings in 1932, equal to $7.49 a common share against

$9.93 in 1931, were somewhat better than had been forecast.

Although steel production is tapering off, "American metal market thinks seasonal improvement is largely delayed and is expected to be seen clearly next month."

WHEAT PRICES UP ONE CENT

By John P. Boughan.

Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Kansas and Nebraska dust storms reported as much the worst witnessed this year, did much to lift wheat almost a cent a bushel today.

For the first time of late, wheat price gains were unhampered by selling ascribed to United States government-financed bodies. Announcement that war insurance rates to the Orient had been put into effect was construed as bullish.

Wheat closed firm, 1-3 above yesterday's finish, corn a shade to 1-1 up, oats unchanged, and provisions unchanged to 2 cents down.

Throughout wheat territory south-west and west where rains were most needed to relieve drought, no moisture was indicated. Hutchinson, Kansas, messages said the dust storms extended to the Colorado boundary. Market effects of such advances were heightened by crop deterioration reports also from east of the Mississippi, the Ohio valley especially being prolific of complaints.

Evidence of a better export demand for wheat from North America contributed to strength of values. It was estimated 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had been purchased today for overseas, including some for May shipment. There were estimates Canada had sold more than 6,000,000 bushels for export in May. Aside from a brief period at the outset today, little attention was given to Liverpool assertions of heavy offerings of Argentine wheat abroad at sacrifice levels.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat price upward. Round offerings of corn to arrive were light.

Provisions reflected downturns of hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May 47 1/2, July 48 1/2, Sept. 49 1/2, 50. Corn—May 25 1/2, July 27 1/2, Sept. 28 1/2.

Chicago Cash Grain

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Cash wheat was 1-3 cent higher today and the trading basis was firm. Export business was estimated upwards of 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat. France was said to be a buyer of Canadian wheat with Germany seeking No. 1 Manitobas for shipment from Vancouver. A good part of the business was worked for the opening of navigation. Receipts 7 cars; shipping sales 43,000 bushels.

Corn was unchanged to 1 cent higher. Receipts 200 cars; shipping sales 58,000 bushels; booked to arrive 43,000.

Oats were steady. Receipts 17 cars; shipping sales 25,000 bushels.

Cattle 1,500; calves 500; beef steady to weak; bulk 3.50-4.50; better light weights 5.50-6.00; one load held above 6.50; heifers around 25 lower than last week; mostly 3.50-4.50; small lots 5.00; cows little changed; bulk 2.25-3.00; low cutters and cullers 1.25-2.00; vealers steady with Monday's opening 6.50 down.
